

Bloomberg — October 2013

"Surrounded by azaleas right in the middle of town," the 22-room Willcox—nestled in South Carolina's "premiere horse country"—is "a favorite of both visitors and locals." One guest says, "Staying at the Wilcox is like stepping into the luxury and history of the South." The hotel is an "incredible experience" for anyone who loves "the South, golf, horses and history not at the expense of luxury."

Read more ...